Poopsy and Smoopsy's Smelly Adventure

Poopsy and Smoopsy, two small puppies, loved to explore the world with their noses. One morning, Poopsy sniffed the air and wagged his tail. "Do you smell that? It's something sweet!"

Smoopsy took a deep breath. "It smells like... berries!"

The puppies followed the scent and found a basket of berries. Poopsy took a big bite, but juice splashed onto his face.

"Oh no!" laughed Smoopsy. "Now you've got a berry smudge on your nose!"

Poopsy gave a playful smirk and licked his snout. "Now I smell like berries!"

As they kept walking, a new scent floated by—soft and smooth, like summer air.

Smoopsy spotted a butterfly with smart patterns fluttering past. "Maybe it's the flowers!"

They chased the butterfly until—smash!—Poopsy smacked into a bush, sending leaves flying everywhere.

Smoopsy giggled. "Now you smell like leaves and dirt!"

Suddenly, a strong, smoky scent filled the air. "Something smells... hot!" said Poopsy.

The puppies ran toward the scent and found a tiny campfire, with dark smoke. An owl stood nearby, carefully smothering the flames.

"Fire can be dangerous," the owl said. "Always follow your nose to stay safe."

Poopsy and Smoopsy nodded and sniffed the air one last time before heading home.

"This was the best smelly adventure ever!" cheered Poopsy.

Smoopsy smiled and gave Poopsy a happy smooch. "And now, you smell like friendship!"

SM Poem	Rhyming Words	SM Words
One small morning, I sniffed the air, Something smoky floated there! Was it toast, burnt to a crisp? Or dragon's breath—huff and hiss? I smelled my socks, I smelled my shoes, I smelled my dog—bad news! A smudge of mud was on his fur, Mixed with old spaghetti—GROSS! A blur! I smashed a berry, sweet and red, And wiped the juice upon my head! Now my hair smelled like a stew, With hints of bubblegum (just a few). Then came a smooth and flowery breeze, I thought, "Oh yay, my nose will ease!" But wait! Oh no! What do I see? A skunk is smirking right at me! A PUFF of smoke, a POOF so wild, The stinkiest blast in all the miles! I ran away as fast as ever, But now I smell like skunk FOREVER!	Air, there	small smoky
